I have become alarmed to hear that the State Planning Commission intends to reduce the minimum block size in Linden Park to a grossly inadequate 200 m². This is the result of the State Planning Commission deciding that Linden Park should be a General Neighbourhood Zone. Linden Park is already suffering from significant over-development and this decision will turn a once beautiful suburb into an urban wasteland. Indeed, Linden Park, with its prime location in the Adelaide foothills and being part of Burnside council, should be a treasured residential area. Furthermore, native wildlife (koalas, kookaburras etc) reside in the trees that are a feature of this beautiful suburb. Therefore, to maintain the natural beauty of Linden Park, it is imperative that it be zoned as a Suburban Neighbourhood Zone like the surrounding suburbs of St Georges, Hazelwood Park and Tusmore. Anything otherwise would be illogical and irrational.
