I have a complaint on the many residential dwellings with only one garage which is now causing congestion on a residential streets. I assumed roads were implemented for moving traffic and not a parking lot. It will be only a matter of time before a child runs out onto the street and you won’t avoid it due to a line of cars in the street which is also causing a traffic jam in peak hours for only one car to pass on a road. This is all about extra money for councils and developers cramming us in like sardines in a can and between the rubbish bins and cars our suburbs are looking like trash tip.
