I am writing specifically about the rezoning of the Foothills and Seaside Policy Area and more specifically about the lower part of Seacombe Heights where subdivision is not, at the present time, permitted.

I do hope that this new Code will take into account the fact that in the Seacombe Heights area there are some houses built on slightly sloping blocks and other houses where the land is relatively flat. As an example, in the lower part of Seacombe Heights you will find a considerable number of War Service and Trust homes built in the early 60s sitting on exceptionally large blocks 800 to 1300 sq. m with frontages exceeding 25 metres.

In the past, subdividing has been prohibited and now we have a situation where a large number of these homes have fallen into disrepair because their elderly owners, or not so elderly owners, cannot afford to knock them down and rebuild unless they can subdivide.

I do hope that this new zoning policy will allow some much-needed regeneration of this area. I would not like to see overdevelopment of these blocks but there are numerous blocks that could be split that would allow two houses where there is currently only one.

The new Code needs to take into consideration the very different topography of the Foothills and Seaside Policy Area, it’s certainly not a one-size fits all area, nor should it be if good sensible policy is applied.
